

August 2, 2011

Dear Prep Families:

With students back on campus for practices and camps, we are reminded that the first day of classes will soon follow. Personally, I thoroughly enjoy this time of the year when the Prep community gathers for the beginning of school. I trust that you and your family have spent some time this summer relaxing and are now ready to get back to a regular routine. All of that will begin a week from now as the first day of classes for the 2011-12 school year is Friday, August 12.

You will probably recall that last year we transitioned to providing all information online for the beginning of the school year. Feedback from our patrons indicates that this worked well for all of us. As a reminder, you are able to secure general and grade-specific information about the beginning of school by going to www.jacksonprep.net and clicking on "Back to School" listed on the top of the home page on the left side. The school supply list, which is listed by teacher, will be posted when you pick up your schedules. The Senior High Student Council will sell supplies in the Dining Commons again this year. They will provide pre-packaged supplies for students in grades 6, 7, and 8.

An exciting addition this year will be the sale of Prep (non-uniform) clothing items. The first offering of these items for sale will be on book distribution day in the Dining Commons. They will also be available at other school events and in our virtual school store later in the year.

In closing, I want to thank you for choosing Jackson Prep as the school for your student. I look forward to visiting with you throughout the school year.

Sincerely,
